THE HISTORY OF DAHOMY. AN INLAND KINGDOM OF AFRICA; Compiled from authentic Memoirs;

WITH AN INTRODUCTION AND NOTES. By ARCHIBALD DALZEL, Esq.
Governor at Cape-Coast Castle.

Governor at Cape-Coast Castle.

* The above Work was advertised for sale about five years ago, during the Author's absence from Great Britain, and some opics of it got into circulation; but after the periodical publications had given a very favourable account of it, and the public curiosity was excited, the affairs of the former editor became deranged, and the greater part of the impression remained in the hands of his assignees, till the author's late return from Africa; who, regretting exceedingly that the public, and especially his subscribers, should have been so longing approached, has at last rescued the book from its place of concealment, and now respectfully offers it to their perusal.

ADMIRALTY-OFFICE—August 10. 1799.

Copy of a Letter from Vice-Admiral Rainier, Commander in Chief of his Majesty's ships and vessels in the East Indies, to Evan Neekan, Esq. dated in Bombay Harbour, April 1.

I HAVE much pleasure in acquainting you, for their Lordships information, that Captain Cooke, of his Majefty's ship La Sybille, captured the French national frigate La Forte, of much superior force, on the 28th of February last, off the Sand-heads of Bengal river, after a well-fought night action, wherein Captain Cooke appears to have displayed the greatest degree of courage, presence of mind, and professional abilities, and to have been nobly supported by the intrepid conduct of his officers and crew, part of which confilted of a company of his Majesty's Scotch Brigade, embarked by order of his Excellency the Governor-General, on La Sybille's thip's company having been so much reduced by deaths, and debilitated by the severe illness contracted last year at Calcutts, during the repair of that ship, on which account many of them were left ashore at the hospital, and most of the remainder of her old and valuable crew in a weak state of convalescency.

I feel the most sensible concern in acquainting you, that the universal joy and fatisfaction diffused over every countenance on hearing the news of this gallant capture, of so nuch importance to the trading part of the community, and also to the public service, was considerably damped on being informed that Captain Cooke's wounds were of fo dangerous a nature as almost to preclude e-

Very hope of his recovery.

I transmit a copy of Lieutenant Hardyman's letter on the occasion, containing a brief account of the action, addressed to General Sir Alured Clarke, K. B. Vice-President of the Government of Fort William, as it was communicated to me by his Excellency the Earl of Mornington, then at Fort Saint George, who has been pleafed to teltify the most fincere regret for Captain Cooke's melancholy situation.

It may be proper to inform you, that my not having received Lieutenant Hardyman's account of the action, is swing to the uncertainty where to address me, but which I shall inclose, if it arrives in time.

which I shall inclose, if it arrives in time.

I am informed, by an officer in the marine of this port, who was on board La Forte last September at the Mauritius, that she mounted thirty four-pounders on the main-deck, fourieen nine-pounders, and eight thirty-six pounders, carronades, with a line of brats swivels on a sush deck, continued from the quarter-deck to the

It appears the paffed Achin-head nearly about the fame time his Majelty's thip Sceptre did with the convoy from the Cape of Good Hope, and did not reach the Sand-heads till the usual time was expired for expecting any of the enemy's cruizers thereabouts.

You will please to inform their Lordships, that I shall order La Forte to be purchased and commissioned for his Majesty's service, agreeable to the custom of the service, and appoint Lioutenant Hardyman to the command, till their Lordships pleasure is known.

I have the honour to be, &c. PETER RAINIER. His Majesty's ship La Sybille, Balasor Roads, March 2. 1799.

Sir, Roads, March 2. 1799.

I BEG leave to inform you, that in consequence of report that the French frigate La Forte was in the bay, his Majesty's frigate La Sybille failed from Madras on the 19th February to cruize for her, and had the good fortune to fall in with her in these roads on the 28th, when, after an action of one hour and forty minutes, du ring which she was totally difmasted, with very little comparative damage to his Majesty's ship, I have the fatisfaction to acquaint you that the struck.

I much lament that to this intelligence I must add, that of the death of Captain Davis, of Lord Mornington's Staff, who came a volunteer on this occasion, and who unfortunately fell early in the action; and with great regret I must also acquaint you, that Captain cooke is (it is feared mortally) wounded.

The number of killed and wounded on board La Forte is not yet correctly known, but is stated to be very considerable; on board La Sybille, three killed, wound-

I have to request that you will order as speedy a conveyance as possible for Captain Cooke, who, if he survives, will proceed to Calcutta; and that you will please to give the necessary orders that conveyances to Calcutta may be provided for the prifoners and wounded.

I have the honour to be, &c.
L. HARDYMAN, First Lieutenant.

On 5th March, Gen. Harris, with the army of Carnatic entered the Myfore country; the 10th, he was on his way to Seringapatam, where he expected to arrive the 24th. Three hill forts, necessary to possess for the fafety of our convoys, were taken without opposition. Tippoo haraffed our army the last day's march, but the Nizam's troops, the principal object of attack, behaved well, and repulsed them. A body of the enemy's horse broke in and attacked a company of our infantry, and did confiderable execution, wounding severely its com-manding officer, Lieutenant Reynolds.

The Malabar army, under Gen. Stuart, marched from Cannanore the 21st February, and ascended the Ghauts the 25th. The 6th March the advanced brigade, under Lieut. Col. Montresor, 3600 men, was attacked at Seedersere by 12,000 of Tippoo's army. The British force, assisted towards the close of the action by the flank companies of the 75th regiment, and 700 rank and file of the 77th, after a long and obstinate contest, in which we lost 143 men, succeeded com-Capt. Thomfon is faid pletely in repulfing the enemy. Capt. Thomfon is faid to be among the number of the dead; Capt. Skell is miffing, and Lieutenants Lighton, Roome, Wilkinson, and Eldridge, are wounded. Tippoo brought with him from Seringapatam from 20,000 to 25,000 men, and his lofs is estimated at 2500. Among these are several men of distinction killed, and some wounded officers made prisoners. Mezam Khan Bhuckshy, and the Commander of a kutchery, is the prisoner of the greatest rank. Meer Ghozar is amongst the slain, and the Benky Nabob.

After the action our troops fell back to a more ad vantageous poft, and were to remain on the defensive until they heard from General Harris.

This morning the Hamburgh mail due on Wednef-day last, reached town. It brings an account of the total evacuation of Tuscany by the French, in the night between the 16th and 17th ulf. they having less behind them all their heavy ordnance and magazines.

The Vienna Court Gazette of the 24th ult. states the reported junction of the remains of Macdonald's defeated army with Moreau, in the environs of Genoa.

The fiege of Mantua is pushed with great vigour by General Kray, and the Commandant had been summoned to furrender, which, however, he had refused. As the fire of the beliegers however had, from their near approach to the town, become extremely effective, there is a prospect of the speady furrender of that important place.

This mail has brought us the particulars of the eva cuation of Leghorn by the French. The French Minilter, who fled by fea in an American vessel, was taken by one of our cruizers.

Advices from Constantinople, dated June 25, con firm the flight of Buonaparte from Acre, and state that the French General is mortally wounded. Above 1000 French were found dead in the camp before Acre.

COMBINED PLEETS.

The mafter of the Lady Harrier Packet, arrived at Falmouth, states, that on 29th July, 22 leagues from the Rock of Lisbon, at day-light, he discovered a fleet on the lee-bow, confissing of 49 fail, steering a north-west course, which he took to be men of war, chiefly large ships; and on computing the time that the French fleet failed from Cadiz, there is every reason to suppose they were the enemy; but as the number does not correspond with the accounts received at Lisbon, it is imagined they must have been joined by some Spaniards as it was not probable Lord Keith could be so far advanced; for it was reported at Lifbon, that the French fleet confisting of 25 fail of the line, 6 frigates, and 7 cutters, failed from Cadiz the 19th ult. for Brest, and that Lord Keith, with the British fleet, from 36 to 40 fail of the line, was feen the 16th ult.

off Carthagena, steering for Gibraltar.

The master reports, that three of the sleet gave chace, and at eight A. M. he found that the three in chace were falling very much astern; and at noon, the sleet and the three thips in chace on the lee-quarter, were distant about eight miles, and at too great a distance to discover any fignals.

On Thursday night and yesterday morning, about fifty transports, with troops on board for the secret ex-pedition, sailed from Ramsgate. Each transport has nearly 300 men on board; the 50 contain, of courfe, about 15,000 men. As the wind was not fair, the ships continued in fight of Margate yesterday afternoon. A confiderable number of transports remain in Ramsgate harbour for the cavalry, part of which were expected to be embarked last night. Troops for embarkation are marching into Ramfgate hourly. The 85th arrived there yesterday morning. The small camp of about 5000 men, at Birchington, near Margate, was expected to break up yesterday morning. No embarkation has yet taken place from Margate.

Two regiments encamped on Barham Downs yefterday, ten thousand more men are expected to encamp in a few days. A fleet of victuallers for the fecret ex-

Yesterday Captain Hammond, of his Majesty's ship Champion, was expected to fail from the river, with fealed orders. She has a confiderable fum of money on board, it is supposed for the payment of the troops after their landing on the Continent, and Hamburgh is therefore probably the object of her destination.

Colonel Drinkwater is appointed comptroller of army accounts to the forces under the command of Lt. Gen. Sir Ralph Abercrombie, and has left town to embark with the first division.

A Lieutenant of the navy arrived this morning at the Admiralty with dispatches from Rear-Admiral Lord Nelfon, dated in the Bay of Naples the 16th ultimo. By these we learn, that the castle of St Elmo had ca-pitulated to Captain Troubridge, who commanded the fiege, and who had effected a practicable breach. The King of Naples was on board Lord Nelson's ship in the Bay, and preparations were making to receive his Majelly on shore. The Packet from Lisbon. The above officer came home in the

This morning arrived a mail from Halifax, brought to Falmouth by the Grantham Packet, Captain Bull, in 15 days.

EAST. INDIES. (From the Bombay Courier, March 30.) ARMY.

At length the event which our military preparations portended is announced, by the commencement of hoftilities between the right brigade of the Bombay army and the troops of his Highness Tippoo Sultan, on the borders of the Coorga district.

Letters dated the 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th inst. state that the Sultan had a large force (reported to be twenty five thousand men) near Periapatam, which were discovered the 5th inft. The centre and left brigades of the Bombay army were then at Sidapoor, and the right brigade, confifting of Lieut. Colonel Mignan's, Major Difney's, and Major Laurence's battalions, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Montiessor, were advanced nine miles in front, encamped at a convenient distance from each other.

The 6th in the morning the enemy were observed in motion, advancing towards Colonel Mignan, who was immediately joined by Major Difney's corps, and foon after by a part of Major Laurence's battalion, the rest remaining three quarters of a mile in the rear with two fix-pounders. This intrepid handful waited the approach of the enemy with steadiness and resolution, and were foon attacked on the right and left and in the centre by three folid columns of the flower of the Sultan's troops, who were every where repeatedly repulfed with gallantry and execution. The enemy finding that they could not make any impression, changed their plan, and passed their left column round to the rear of the brigade, and recommenced their attack. All their attempts, however, were fruitlefs, and after feven hours unavailing perfeverance, with the number of ten to one, their fire flackened, and their ardour abated—when, just at this important orifis, his Majesty's 77th and part of the 75th regiment, who had marched to support the brigade, unexpectedly opened a heavy fire on the enemy's rear, who immediately fled in all directions, leaving our detachment mafters of the field, but too much

It gives us pain to add, that this victory has not been obtained without a confiderable number of cafualties in officers and men.

The enemy's loss is not ascertained; but, from the circumftance of their leaving upwards of 400 dead on the field of battle, and their being feen to carry off numbers of dead or wounded, it must have been very great Their commanding officer was mortally wounded and taken prisoner; their second in command is also wounded and prisoner; likewise another officer of rank.

The Sultan's forces engaged confifted, by the most accurate estimate from 12 to 15,000 men. The two native corps, and the part of Major Laurence's which opposed them, did not exceed 1400 rank and file, Our letters add, that those who last faw Capt. Skell fay that he was not wounded, but spent with fatigue and incapable of exertion. It does not appear that the Sultan was in action; but he was at no great diltance with 6000 men, ready to avail himself of circumstances. Letters ftate, that Cummar Ud Den Khan har been detached from Seringapatam, in a contrary direction, with the rest of the regular infantry and all the cavalry; adding that the troops which had been defeated by the brigade had retired to Periapatam. Many panish of the French had not had time to follow them in the retreat. They were arrested and committed to i guard, amidst the execrations of the people. The atroles were obliged to exert themselves to the umost to fave them from falling facrifices to popular fury. General Lavilette has fince published rigid regulation, to prevent excesses, and all is to be left to the justice and elemency of the Grand Duke, whose government is now restored. The arbitrary arrests, which continue till vefterday, have diminished.

The 17th nothing but feun de joye were to be head, and Imperial and Tufcan colours every where fee, which the people carried exultingly through the free with the images of the Grand Duke, Grand Duchel and the Pope.

Fifty Auftrian huffars arrived the 17th amidft the acclamations of the people. The whole city was ille minated, except the Jews quatter, where the popular would not fuffer an illumination. At night a play us performed, and the statues of the Grand Duke and Grand Duchefs, made by the academy of Gardine were brought with torches to the Theatre; the Imperial officers, and those of Arezzo were present. By order of the Government the gates were that at night, and orders were given to keep the shops and dwellings shut, and every body ordered to stay at home, under pain of one month's imprifonment.

Yesterday Te Deum was chaunted in the Cathedral, and in the afternoon the Imperial Col. Baroa d'Afpre arrived, and the people taking the horfes from his curiage, drew him to the palace.

This day business is carried on. The bank pays as usual, and all is quiet.

The French evacuated Pifa on the 17th, and Luce now likewise free from them.

The populace have forced the Batavian Consal to take down the arms of his republic from his house. On the Grand Duke's balcony are floating the flags of the fix allied friendly powers, viz. the three Imper-al, the English, Neapolitan, and Tuscan stags, to whith has been added that of Sardinia.

SECRET EXPEDITION.

Lord Mulgrave's mission is not to Vienna, but to the head-quarters of the Austrian army, for the purpole concerting with the Archduke Charles on the most effectual means for the fecret expedition to co-operate with his Royal Highness. The army to be com ed by Field Marshal the Duke of York, will comprise 40,000 British, 36,000 Russians, 8000 Swedes, 6000 Hessians, and 3.000 Wirtemberghers, amounting in the entire to 93,000 men; whose first object, we have reafon to believe, is to re-establish the government of the Stadtholder, which the great body of the Dutch anxioully defire.

Proclamations in French and Dutch have been put lished in the name of Field Marshal the Duke of York intended to be difperfed through Holland on his arrival in that country, inviting the Batavians to burst their setters, and join the standard of liberty, promising period amnesty for the past, with the re-establishment of their civil and religious rights; for the protection of which a sufficient army would be kept up against the common enemy, whilst they should have a participation in the trade, and be defended by the sleet of Britain.

General Don arrived yesterday at Whitehall from Yarmouth, where he landed, bringing advices that the Russian forces destined to co-operate with the British were already at the point agreed upon. The whole of the transports that will be employed will amount to not lefs than one hundred thousand tons of shipping, a fleet capable of carrying near one hundred thousand men. Mr Garthshore has returned to this country without having fulfilled the object of his mission, which was to engage fome large vessels from the Court of Sweden, to ferve as transports. Our overture was rejected, owing to the detention of Swedish vessels by our cruizers. Major General Hewett is appointed Colonel Commandant of the fecond battalion of the 5th foot; Major General Robert Manners, of the second battalion of the 9th foot; Major-Gen. Saturday two foreigners were apprehended with all their papers, at Whit able, endeavouring, notwithstanding the embargo, to prevail upon the mafters of some reffels to take them to Flushing, to convey information, as is supposed, to the enemy, of the secret expedition. They were sent to town. They yesterday underwent a long examination at the Secretary of State's Office before Mr Ford, after which they were committed to prison on a charge of high treason.

NAPLES-July 14.

"In consequence of the exertions of the Cardinal General Ruffo, with 30,000 Calabrians, affifted by 500 Ruffian marines from Corfu, Ferdinand IV. has been put in poffetion of his abdicated dominions, almost without the loss of a man. After the departure of Gen. Macdonald's army from this State, the Cardinal advanced to Salerno, twenty-four miles from the capital, and having only the French garrison in the caltle of St Elmo (about 1000 men) to oppose his progress, together with a few patriots, who occupied the posts of Castle Nuvo and Castle Uovo, he entered the city about the 20th ult. An action had taken place at the Ponte Maddalena, in which the Russians distinguished themselves for their bravery, and the Calabrians for their cowardice; it required the greatest exertions of the officers of the former to prevent their firing on their allies, who began to fly at the moment of at-tack; from the aftonishing valour of this handful of Ruffians, the Jacobins were speedily routed, and three hundred put to the sword. Those who escaped retreated into the castles.

About this period the British fleet in Palermo Bay failed to co-operate with the Royalists, having on board the gallant Hereditary Prince, and a few Sicilian regi-ments. On their passage a dispatch overtook them from Lord Keith, with the news of the French fquadron having again put to fea; our fleet was therefore obliged to return to Palermo, to difembark the troops. consequence of this disappointment, the patriots here began to pluck up a little courage, and Russo having learned that he had no aid to expect from the English, determined to offer terms to the patriots in the Cafties. Lord Nelfon having afterwards learnt that Lord Keith had been reinforced, arrived in the Bay of Na-

On Lord Nelfon's going on shore, he found that Cardinal Ruffo had concluded a very difgraceful convention with the French and the Neapolitan rebels. His Lordship declared, that not having been ratisfied by his Majesty's authority, the treaty was null and void. One of the first articles in it was to grant a pardon to Admiral Prince Caraccioli, the chief of the revolutionary party. Lord Nelfon ordered the Prince to be immediately arrested, and carried on board the Neapolitan frigate the Menerva, where he was tried by a Court Martial, and hanged within twenty-four hours after sen-

Cardinal Ruffo had, moreover, granted permission to the French to carry feveral valuables out of the country, which were not their lawful property; and to the rebels the had allowed permission either to remain in, or quit the Nearolitan dominions. In short, the Cardinal had purchased the refloration of the throne at a price to which it was impossible to accede. These conditions were therefore set aside by Lord Nelson, and many rebels had been apprehended.

Nothing now was wanting to the re-establishment of the King on his throne, and the tranquillity of the city, but the expulsion of the French from St Elmo. By its situation it cannot be taken by storm; batteries were therefore erected by the English and Russians, and a fevere and constant fire kept up for ten days. The parapets were knocked down, and a great many guns difmounted, while the fire of the enemy produced little or no effect on the beliegers. Six thirty-two pounders, under the direction of the gallant Captain Hallowell, were opened a few days ago within 150 yards of the castle, which had such a tremendous effect, that after two hours battering, a flag of truce was hoifled, and the garrifon furrendered.

The above account is taken from the Sun-Other papers mention many instances of cruelty exercised by the Calabrians .- They state, that Cardinal Russo feized on 6 or 700 of the Jacobins, whom he thut up in prison; that the Calabrians could hardly be restrained from fetting fire to the prisons, and that they perpetrated many shocking cruelties in the city, succ as roalfing and fleaing alive those of the opposite party .- This part of the account, we suspect, is strongly exaggerated.

INTELLIGENCE FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.

INTELLIGENCE FROM CONSTANTINOPLE.

The people of Constartinople, in imitation of the Government; we in attentions to the English, whose Minister (Mr Spencer Smith) is consulted upon every occasion of importance. Mr Specing too, is much distinguished by the Grand Signier, who has directed that a ship of 84 guns, one of 44, and other vessels on the English principle, shall be immediately built under his direction. Our letters express an extreme degree of horror at the appearance of the heads of the French who had fallen at Acre, of which 1600 lay exposed in one heap for three days opposite the gate of the Seraglio, with inscriptions over those of three of the Generals, to distinguish them from the rest.

A letter from Mr T. Amaxary, dragoman at Acre, dated June 1, relates, that on Buonaparte's retreat from that city, 14 pieces of his cannon, and two mortars, were found concealed in the sand—Buonaparte lost mne generals, and half his army, under the walls of Acre, and was obliged to fly, after his insolenly men cing a large empire, being defeated chiefly by two English ships of war, and some Asiatic troops, which he affected to despise. The letter adds, that Buonaparte, joined by the garrison of Caiffa, had taken the road to Jaffa; and it is Sir Sidney Smith was in pursuit of two French frigates.

The deplorable state of the army of Buonaparte before Acre is shortly described in one of our letters, which says, according trench soldiers, stimulated by the despair which was diriversal; and impressed with an high confidence in the humanity of the British Commander, took an opportunity to swim off so a gunboat commanded by Mr Stokes, whom they requested to convey them to Sir Sidney Smith, when their reception did nor bely their, hopes. One of these men, a fine dashing fellow, grateful for the kindness he experienced, and desirous that his friends should partake of it, swam to the camp, which he entered without having been missed, and in the night, he dispersed a number of proclamations from the British Commander.—Their contents, in the morning, augmented the general spirit of discontent; one of the papers was taken to Buonaparte, who tore it in a frenzy of passion, and forbid its being mentioned; but dreading the effect which he read in the countenances of his people, he that night commenced the dreadful march across the Desart, which, probably, a few hours delay would have rendered impossible to be attempted. The man who had taken to the camp Sir S Smith's proclamations, with other French who contrived to get off with him, related that the grenudiers of Lecour's division had been cut off to, a man in a desperare attack upon the mortars in the garden of the Pacha, where they encountered Sir S. Smith at the head of the English.

Our letters add that General Kleber, in an attempt to obey the orders of Buonaparte, who, as a last resource, had sent for him, had been surrounded in the mountains, and nearly cut to pieces.

EDINBURGH-AUGUST 15.

In the foregoing columns of this paper, our readers will find feveral particulars relative to the Secret Expedition, which is carrying on with great exertion.

The Count D'ARTOIS arrived on Thuisday at Stow Buckinghamshire, the country residence of the Marquis of Buckingham. On Friday morning Lord Grentles went thither to dine with the Prince, with whom he had some private conversation on affairs of the first

The Duc de Bourbon is preparing to depart in a few days for the Continent. The Count d'Artois likewife quits England on an important commission.

Many French Emigrant General Officers hold themselves also in readiness to accompany either the one or other of these Princes, or to go on private missions. From all these sacts a supposition is drawn, that the great military movements making at this moment in every part of Europe, heve for their object something more than the mere recovery of conquered territory .-France is paralized to the centre in consequence of the recent shocks she has sustained, and the deluded, but at length convinced people wait impatiently the return of their ancient princes, when by thaking off at once their oppressors, they hope to expiate the crimes and errors o. the revolution, and recover repose under the shadow of a re-established throne.

Letters from Vienna mention, that if the war is not terminated with the present year, the Emperor of Rus-sia will march another force of 300,000 men to effect it. The French General and ex-Prince of Salm has been fent prisoner to Vienna.

Lieutenant Parkinson arrived early on Saturday with dispatches, dated 16th July, from Lord Nelson. They contain an account of the capture of Naples.

Previously to the arrival of his Lordship, Cardinal Russo had concluded a convention with the French and Neapolitans, which was deemed to be so disgraceful to the King, that it was annulled.

Prince Caracceoli, the Chief of the revolutionary party, who, by this convention, was to have been pardon-ed, was arrefted by Lord Nelfon's orders, and carried on board the Minerva frigate, where, after being tried by a Court Martial, he was hanged.

The Prussian counted 60 sail, but could not determine whether or not they had troops on board. When the Prussian ship left them, they were about 40 leagues to the northward of Lisbon, and were steering a northnorth-east course, from which we are led to suppose they are bound to Breft.

We understand, that the petition of the Russia merchants in England, for leave to import the produce of Russia into Great Britain in heutral vessels, has been granted for a limited time. The reason for this application is faid to be, that Captain POPHAM was gone to Rusha with powers to engage all the British ships he possibly can, for the purpose of bringing from Russia the troops in the pay of England; it was therefore thought proper to agree with the terms of the petition, fearing there might not be English thips sufficient in the Baltic to bring the hemp, flax, deals, &c. that is requisite for the confumption of this maritime country:

By a letter from a gentleman in India to his friend in Aberdeen, we learn, that the force which went a-gainst Tippoo Saib consisted of two armies of 40,000 urferam Bhow, one of the Mahratta Chiefs, offered 60,000 horfe, on condition of 'lippod's total dellruction. GRAND NAVAL PILLAR.

GRAND NAVAL PILLAR,

TO PREFERRATE THE

CLORIOUS VICTORIES OF THE BRITISH NAVY.

THE Unexampled Glory which the British Empire has associated by its Victorious Fleets during the present war, demands, in a peculiar degree, the gratitude of the Nation to those distinguished characters, by whose skill, coarage, and exertions, under the Dirine Blessing of Ahnighty Providence, these resplendent victories have been atchieved.

To commemorate these important victories, and to do just honour to those brave uses by whom they have been gained, it is proposed that a GRAND NAVAL PILLAR shall be creeted on Portsdown Hill, near Portsmouth, or some other place which may hereafter appear more eligible.

That this National Monument of British Glory may be solely the effusion of British Gratitude, it is proposed that it should be erected by general and voluntary contributions; and it is not doubted but a sufficient fund for so noble a purpose will very speedily be raised. The estimate, according to a design already formed, amounts to about 15,000l, and the Pillar is intended to display Trophies descriptive of the Unparalleled Victories obtained over the fleets of France, Holland, and Sp. in, by our Naval Commanders.

The plan to be conducted and executed under the auspices of his Highness the Duke of Clarence.

Subscriptions received at all the Banking Houses; at the Barvison, Esq. of St James's Square, London.

The plan will be submitted to a Committee for their approval, alteration, or amendment, for the more complete execution of the design, as well as to the eligibility of erecting the intended pillar on Blackheath, or some other centrical spot, near London, metad of Fortsdown Hill.—Subscribers names will regularly appear in the newspapers.

The following Letter has been addressed to the Right Hon. the Lord Provost of the City of Edinburgh, in which City Subscriptions will be received in the Council Chamber and at the different Banks and Banking-houses.

St James's Square, London, MY LORD,

At the desire of his Royal Highness the Duke of Clarence, I take-the liberty of transmitting you a copy of a Paper, which I am led to suppose from the peculiar and truly gratifying object of its circulation, as well as from the very distinguished support it has hitherto received, will readily obtain every protection and recommendation, which may be in your power to give it.

Although the object in view is entirely national, yet it has tection and recommendation, which may be in your power to give it.

Although the object in view is entirely national, yet it has been under the present circumstances considered to be more tesirable to carry this design into effect by voluntary contribution, than by applying in any way whatever for public aid.

I have therefore to beg the fayour of you to have the inclosed Paper, with the Names annexed, inserted in any newspaper which may be printed within your jurisdiction, naming such Bankers in Edinburgh, as you may think proper, who will readily undertake to receive substiffptions for this purpose, the amount of which you will please to have remitted monthly to me, in order that the Names of the Subscribers, with the amount of their Subscriptions, may be added to the Last of Subscribers in London. The expense attending the publication, &c. may either be deducted from the Subscriptions, or, if it be equally convenient to you, I will acttle every thing of that nature with your Correspondent in town, upon receiving advice from you of its amount, though you much be aware that it will be necessary for mit to be possessed of the youthers, as I shall in my capacity of Treasurer he obliged to account for disburse meants.

shall in my capacity of Treasurer he obliged to account for disbursements.

His Royal Highness has also desired me to seild you a copy of a Plan, which will be hereafter sigmitted to a Committee of the Subserbers, that will be chosen from amongst those who are considered most competent to superintend the undertaking, for their approval, alteration, or anendment, according as it may appear expedient for the more complete execution of the design.

The splendour of this proposed National Monument of British glory and pre-enimente will most unquestionably inspire every true lover of this great and happy Empire with the strongest desire to see its completion. I therefore cannot entertain a doubt, bit, with your assistance, and that of the Chief Magistrates of the other towns and citiet throughout the kingdom, the requisite sum will speedily be obtained, and that his Royal Highness the Duke of Clareoge, who has most zealowly promoted the undersaking, will be gratified to the fullest extent of his wishes.

BRITISH BENEVOLENCE.

The history of Britain does not shew any period where public benevolence has been displayed equal to what has been evinced within these sew years. While national objects have called forth the liberality of a grateful and loyal people, these, however, have not prevented them from manifelling a readinest to establish and softer institutions calculated to advance the sciences, as meliorate the condition of man, or afford relief to fuffer-

The National objects, we have to mention are—The The National objects we have to mention are—The Voluntary Contributions in support of the war; the Contributions for the friends of those who sell in the naval actions sought by the steets under Lord Howa, Lord St. Vincent, Lord Duncan, Lord Nations, &c.; also Contributions for purchasing stannel rests, &c. for our soldiers when sighting on the Continent in the winter season;—and now a Subscription is going on for creeking a pillar to perpetuate the same of our naval herees.

The more private objects, and which have been peculiar to Scotland are—Subfcriptions for the New College of Edinburgh;—the Glafgow Infirmary;—the Northern Infirmary; and to these we have to add a Subscription now carrying on for creding New School-houses at Dumfries, which already amounts to upwards of 2000 guiness. The list of subscribers to this inflitution will appear in our next.

The sum total collected for these various purposes must be immense, and other mations and suture ages, while they contemplate the fact, will recognize it as a perpetual memorial of the nation's wealth and the people's virtue!

"We beg leave to inform our numerous friends, that, in consequence of an order from the Lords of the Admiralty, we are under the necessity of discontinuing such part of our ship news as might have reference to the appointment or sailing of convoys from this and other ports. The above order was contained in a letter from Mr Nepean, to the Worshipful the Mayor of this town; and is done with a view to prevent the possibility of the enemy's cruizers obtaining information, with respect to the sailing of our fleets. PREPARED only by JAMES BARCLAY, (lateT. Jackson)
No. 95. Fleet Market, London, where it has been prepared and sold for upwards of fifty years. It cures annually fifteen thousand persons, and was never known to fail.

It does not contain the least particle of Mercury, or any other pernicious ingredient, and may be used with safety by women with child, and infants newly born, and is not disagreeable in its flavour. Its safety and dispatch is fully manifested by the Faculty adopting it in their private practice, which several of the most reputable have done for many years.

It becomes particularly necessary to caution those who are afflicted with the above distemper against imposition, as several umprincipled men have substituted their own pernicious trash (whose basis is Mercury) in its stead, and, taking advantage of the death of Mr Jackson, have put his name to their preparation.—You will therefore observe, as you regard your health, that the name of T.
